Foundation Health Plan of Washington as of February 1, 2017, and Kaiser is liable for the acts and injuries alleged herein as the successor in interest to Group Health Cooperative.

- 1.3. Defendant Overlake Hospital Medical Center ("Overlake") is an active nonprofit corporation organized under the laws of the State of Washington and doing business in the State of Washington.
- 1.4. Defendant John Scott Emery, M.D., is a physician licensed to practice medicine in the State of Washington. At all relevant times, Dr. Emery was an employee or agent of Group Health Cooperative, a part of Kaiser Foundation Health Plan of Washington since February 1, 2017.
- 1.5. King County is the appropriate venue for this action because the events giving rise to this cause of action took place in King County and defendants Kaiser and Overlake are located therein.
- 1.6. Plaintiff elects not submit this matter to arbitration. Please see attached declaration of Judith Wangen.

II. FACTS

- 2.1. On June 8, 2015, decedent Lawrence Wangen was hospitalized at Overlake Hospital under the care of Dr. Emery for a laparoscopic hiatal hernia repair and Nissen fundoplication.
- 2.2. Following the surgery and during his hospitalization at Overlake Hospital from June 8 through June 10, 2015, Mr. Wangen did not do well. His pain level was greater than expected for the surgery he had, he needed increasing levels of oxygen support, his heart rate and respiratory rate were elevated, and he had low urine output relative to his fluid intake.

- 2.3 By the morning of June 10th, Mr. Wangen's need for oxygen had increased to 15 L/min and his kidneys were showing damage. A CT was done and an esophageal perforation, likely caused by his surgery on June 8th, was detected. By that time, he was septic.
- 2.4. At first, Dr. Emery planned to take Mr. Wangen to the operating room to repair the perforation. Upon realizing that Overlake did not have a thoracic surgeon to back him up during the esophageal repair, Dr. Emery decided to have Mr. Wangen transferred to Virginia Mason, which is a center for esophageal surgery. He was transferred by ambulance to Virginia Mason in the late afternoon/early evening of June 10th.
- 2.5. Surgery was performed that night by Dr. Don Low, a specialist in esophageal surgery. Mr. Wangen remained at the hospital until July 27th when he died as a result of the perforation and resulting sepsis.

III. LIABILITY AND CAUSATION

- 3.1. This is an action for medical negligence and wrongful death, brought pursuant to the laws of the State of Washington, including RCW 7.70.010 et seq., RCW 4.20.010 et. seq., RCW 4.20.46, and RCW 4.20.060 The defendants and their respective employees or agents were negligent and violated the standard of care with respect to their care and treatment of Lawrence Wangen. The liability of defendants is based upon the legal theories of negligence, respondeat superior, agency, negligent supervision, and independent corporate negligence.
- 3.2. At all relevant times, Dr. Emery was employed by and/or was the actual or ostensible agent of defendant Kaiser (Group Health), and therefore, defendant Kaiser is liable for his acts and omissions.

- 3.3. Defendants Kaiser, Overlake Hospital, including its nursing staff, and Dr. Emery owed duties to Lawrence Wangen to exercise the degree of care, skill, and learning expected of reasonably prudent health care providers of the same type, acting in the same or similar circumstances at the time the services were provided.
- 3.4. Defendants Kaiser, Overlake, and Dr. Emery and their agents breached their duty of care and were negligent in failing to monitor and assess Mr. Wangen's condition properly and thus failed to detect and provide appropriate treatment for the esophageal perforation and incipient sepsis he experienced in a timely manner. The negligence of each these defendants and their agents was a proximate cause of Mr. Wangen's death and of plaintiff's damages as outlined below.
- 3.5. Defendant Overlake Hospital further failed to meet the standard of care by failing to adequately train and/or supervise their agents and employees, including its nursing staff, and to have appropriate systems in place to ensure that patients such as Mr. Wangen were monitored, evaluated and treated in a timely manner for post-surgical complications, including but not limited to the development of sepsis.

IV. DAMAGES

- described above, plaintiff is entitled to be compensated for the following damages:
- A. Lawrence Wangen suffered the following damages which survive his death: medical expenses, disability, conscious pain and suffering, loss of enjoyment of life, and death;
- B. Judith Wangen has suffered damages for loss of companionship, services, and consortium.

26

- C. The statutory beneficiaries of a wrongful death claim, namely plaintiff and those provided by law, have suffered damages on account of the suffering and death of the decedent, for the loss of love, care, affection, companionship, guidance and society, of the decedent. Claims for loss of consortium on behalf of the decedent's adult children, Richard Wangen and Rachel Wangen-Hoch, are specifically included within the damages claimed.
- D. The Estate of Lawrence Wangen has suffered the loss of future earnings and other economic losses.
 - E. All other rights and remedies arising from decedent's injuries.
- F. All of the above damages are in an amount which will be proved at trial.

V. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for damages as set forth above, and for such other relief as the Court deems just and reasonable.

DATED this 17th day of May, 2017.
